Having been signally honored with two unsolicited passes to the private opening, me and the boy friend donned gala array and went down to the Little Motion Picture Theatre on Ninth Street last Wednesday night.

Slightly dazzled by the distinguished company, and more than a little awed by the atmosphere of Art, we pushed past Cabinet officers, foreign diplomats and famous George Washington personalities, and sank into a seat to await developments.

The first of these resembled nothing so much as an explosion in a paint factory. We had concluded that the thing was a futuristic representation of the last stages of a vodka delirium when, glancing at the program, we were enlightened by the explanation, "Overture interpreted on the screen by the famous abstract color film produced at a cost of $153,000 by the Eastman Company."

Next followed an archaic asinine Chaplin comedy; then a characteristic bit of tomfoolery written and directed by Leonard Hall. Just as we were beginning to think that the Armored Cruiser Prince Potemkin had been sunk without a trace, the piece de resistance was flashed on the screen.

After seeing "Potemkin" I am willing to bet that the movies will not supersede the stage as an art form. Max Reinhardt, Douglas Fairbanks, Leonard Hall and Jack Milligan to the contrary, that is our humble opinion.

Potemkin is epoch-making in that it demonstrates the hitherto unsuspected possibility of movies sans the three B's of the commercial movie theatre—bunk, bathos and banality. It is starkly realistic; artistic in its horror. It is a faithful record of an historic event. But it is still a movie.

The movies may supplement, but they will never supersede the stage. It is just as impossible to transfer to the screen those two ingredients of drama, dialogue and personality, as it is to reproduce on the stage the actual scenery and mechanical action which are caught by the camera.

The Little Theatre is filling a long-felt need for better movies, but the National, Poli's and the Belasco doubtless will continue to do business.

Having thus disposed of the movies, let us proceed to the drama.

Hampered by an audience which was in a decidedly slapstick mood, and therefore more intent upon its own levity than upon the piquant satire of the play, The Mimes last Friday night presented what would have been, given half a chance, a really creditable performance of Caesar and Cleopatra.

There were moments which justified the attitude of the audience. The sight of a U. S. mail bag in ancient Egypt naturally provoked a smile. Something about those trumpet blasts did suggest the homely sound of the garbage horn. And, of course, Cleo's vehement denial of concealment brought down the house.

For obvious reasons, there should be a 100 per cent George Washington attendance at the Earle next week. Those who have heard the Men's Glee Club and know what it can do will need no second invitation.

GLEE CLUB WILL HEADLINE EARLE BILL NEXT WEEK

Four of Last Year's "Charleston Quintet" Will Appear in Feature Dance

FIFTY MEMBERS SING ON THEATRE PROGRAM

George Washington Men's Club The Largest Aggregation Ever Appearing on Local Vaudeville Stage

Headlining the vaudeville program at the Earle Theater the week beginning Easter Sunday, April 17, is the Men's Glee Club of George Washington University. They will appear three times daily under the direction of Robert Harmon and will constitute the largest aggregation ever appearing on the local vaudeville stage as their contract with the Earle management is for fifty men.

The club will present the same general type of entertainment that featured their week's engagement at Keith's last June. The program varies from grand opera to popular melody and includes among several special acts the famous "dancing quintet," four of whom are veterans of last year's Charleston act, which scored a decided hit.

The vocal quality and the morale of the club is higher this year than it has been at any time in its history, according to Robert Harmon, the director. During the past winter the club has appeared in concerts before some of the most prominent local organizations in Washington and the vicinity.

Dancing Quintet

The members of the dancing quintet are: Henry Klinge, Firth Marquis, Henry Foster, Clem Denescke, and Bill Denescke. Mrs. Robert Harmon is the accompanist for all vocal numbers while Paul Gable, president of the Glee Club and organist at the First Congregational Church will accompany the dancers. Vocalists will include Miss Juanita Froehlich, soprano, H. C. Sonntag, tenor, and Robert Ferguson, tenor.

The Petite Revue will feature in second place on the Earle Bill. Many George Washington University students have not taken advantage of opportunities to hear the Men's Glee Club and it is expected that they, with those who have already heard the club sing, will swell the attendance to capacity. The men have been rehearsing almost daily during the last two weeks and now have their program well in hand.

Thursday, April 7, the club appeared in a concert at the Raleigh Hotel, before the Loyal Order of Moose. Several other concerts which had been tentatively scheduled for Easter week have been postponed and announcement will be made later of the dates on which they will be given.

'BRITANNICUS' BY DIONYSIANS NEXT DRAMATIC SHOW

Adelaide Dwyer, Columbian College Junior, Chosen for Part Of Agrippina

TRANSLATION OF RACINE PLAY DONE BY STUDENTS

Costumes Made By Actors Themselves; Scenes Being Constructed at Wardman Park

Adelaide Dwyer, a junior in Columbian College, has been cast as Agrippina, leading lady in "Britannicus" by Racine, which the Dionysian dramatic society is rehearsing for performances on April 26. Two years ago Miss Dwyer appeared before a G. W. audience as a member of the Sacred Heart players, in the play of "The Rose of Persia."

She has taken part in musical comedies and vaudevilles given by the Saint Patrick players, but it was not until after her interpretation of Racine's play in "The Rose of Persia" that Kirmitt Girdner, director of the Dionysians, enlisted her for the role of Nero's mother.

The other parts in the play: Young Emperor Nero; Britannicus, rightful heir to the throne; Junia, their mutual sweetheart; Narcissus, the treacherous friend of Britannicus; and Burrus, Nero's governor—are to be divided among William Bradley, J. Eustace Weigle, Margaret Willis, Willie Kennedy and Beulah Ragan, as Miss Katherine Brown, University dramatic coach, will decide on the evening of the performance.

French Classical Drama

The plot, laid three years after the accession of Nero to the throne of the Roman Empire, includes a continuous struggle between the headstrong erratic Nero and his domineering mother for monarchical power. The clash, however, which causes Nero to embark on his career of atrocities is that between Britannicus and himself for Junia.

This French classical drama of the seventeenth century, which the pioneer members themselves have translated, is to be introduced to G. W. students on the Tuesday after vacation, for the first time in America. Faculty members from the English, History, French and Spanish departments have each in his own way during the course of the year, acquainted the Dionysians with the spirit of the seventeenth century.

Lectures by Professors

Professor Bolwell has lectured on the classical movement in literature, "Duchess of Maef" year before last, and third last year to Aristophanes' "Frogs," also presented in English for the first time in America, this dramatic group, announces Ruth C. Winter, publicity manager, "has plunged itself headlong into an effort to make 'Britannicus' a cup winner."

The costumes, designed by Betty Halsey, have been made by the actors themselves, while Kermitt Girdner's novel lighting and staging effects are being constructed at the Wardman Park theater.

Professor Gropp, of the German department, and his student orchestra of five, have consented to play overtures between acts.

After an award of second place to Ben Jonson's "Silent Woman" and "Duchess of Maef" year before last, and third last year to Aristophanes' "Frogs," also presented in English for the first time in America, this dramatic group, announces Ruth C. Winter, publicity manager, "has plunged itself headlong into an effort to make 'Britannicus' a cup winner."

SENIOR GIRLS

Senior girls expecting to graduate in June are requested to meet in the reception room of the Woman's Building, on Wednesday, April 13, between 3 and 5, to be measured for caps and gowns.

DRIVE STARTED FOR ENDOWMENT

Committees Begin Campaign for Contributing to Graduate Endowment Fund

ESTABLISHED LAST YEAR

Drive To Be of Personal Character Supervised by a Board of Five

The second drive for contributions to the Graduate Endowment Fund is well under way. Committees from each school have been appointed to carry on the actual campaigning.

The fund was established last year by members of the senior class and certain alumni. It will provide an income to be used in the development of a "Greater George Washington University"—specifically for the erection of new buildings, acquisitions of new sites, maintenance of buildings and equipment.

Contributors to the fund will be members of the senior classes and alumni. Contributions may be made in cash or notes with a minimum face value of $100 and payable in installments over 10 years.

Last year about 7 per cent of the senior class made pledges. It is believed the rapid increase in student enrollment and the greater prominence of George Washington will result in this year's commensurate increase in the endowment.

Pyramid Supports Drive

The Pyramid Honor Society and the fraternities are supporting the drive wholeheartedly.

The drive is to be of a personal character, supervised by a board. The board is composed of the following: Arthur F. Johnson, '25, chairman; Evelyn W. Jones, '21, secretary; Gilbert Ludwig, '26; Dorothy Dougherty, '26; and Henry James, '27. The board in turn will be assisted by the presidents of the senior classes who have already nominated committees.

The committee for Columbian College is composed of George Spangler, Vernon Brown, Dorothy Shoemaker, Beveridge Miller and Lyman Dishmon. The members of the Engineering School committee are: Henry James, Claude F. Hewison and John R. Kneis. Teacher's College is represented by Betty Armentrout and Kitty Ruth, and the Law and Medical Schools by W. J. Wilkins and Dr. Gittleman, respectively.

DOUBLE PIANO CONCERT ON CHAPEL BILL TODAY

At chapel today Sara Becker and Burrus Williams, a member of the Junior class of Columbian College, will feature the program with something novel in the way of entertainment when they give a double piano concert. Both Miss Becker and Williams are well known in musical circles in Washington, and are members of the faculty of the Washington College of Music.

Their program follows: Suite, by Arensky; (a) Romance; (b) Waltz; (c) Polonaise. Espana, by Chabrier.

CENTRAL CLUB TO MEET

The Central Club will hold a meeting tonight in the Sigma Kappa rooms, Building 10, third floor front, at 8 o'clock.

SUICIDE WAVE IS NOT CONFINED TO STUDENTS—MOSS

No More Prevalent Among College Students Than Others Says Psychology Professor

NEWS ARTICLES CAUSE INCREASED SUICIDES

Says Parents Should Not Be So Severe With Poor Students When They Become Discouraged

By BETTY ALEXANDER

"Suicide," declared Professor Fred A. Moss, head of the Psychology Department yesterday in an interview on that much-discussed topic, "is not more prevalent among college students than among people in other occupations, nor is it as prevalent at the age of twenty than at the age of forty."

"Statistics prove that it occurs most often among men between the ages of forty and fifty and among women between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five."

"Newspapers entirely disregard this; because they must have news they treat only one class at a time and overlook other cases. A few years ago there were waves of suicide among business men and among children. Actual figures show only a small temporary relative increase in the type stressed, and this increase may be caused by reading about the suicides of others similarly situated."

Youth Interesting

"Of course it is natural that they should choose youth to write about," he added, "they always do; for youth is so much more interesting than age."

"But the subjects college students study have relatively little to do with their suicides. However, when one considers how much they study, one can generally find from school records that the student has not delved deeply into any subject. In most cases they are the boys and girls who have been wrought up and unbalanced from social overstrain."

"There may be one cause peculiar to college youth, however. There are cases in which students of low ability, helped, prodded and supervised during high school by teachers and parents, are totally at sea when the colleges exact no restraint from them. Examinations come, they fail, and their parents rake them over the coals."

"Parents should realize, by the aid of freshman intelligence tests, that their children can do only a certain grade of work, and no better. Often

Recheck of Grades Puts Acacia In Lead

Cup Awarded to Kappa Alpha Due to Forced Speed in Compiling Averages

Owing to a mistake in compiling the fraternity scholarship averages due to the pressure under which the work had to be done before the Interfraternity Prom, Kappa Alpha was awarded the Interfraternity Scholarship Cup. A recheck, made three times, and recently announced to the Interfraternity Council, shows Acacia as topping the list with an average of 87.383 and Kappa Alpha following with a total of 85.8.

On motion, in Interfraternity Council meeting held last Sunday, of a representative of Kappa Alpha, the cup was given up to Acacia. A rechecking of the other averages is also taking place.

PYRAMID SOCIETY HONORS NINE MEN IN NEW ELECTIONS

Leaders in Recognized Activities Are Elected by Senior Honor Society

INITIATION WILL TAKE PLACE IN NEAR FUTURE

Athey, Dennis, McGrew, McSwain, Miller, Parker, Riley, Starr and Wallace Get Bids

Nine student leaders in recognized activities of the University have received bids to the Pyramid Honor Society as a result of the annual spring elections held at a recent meeting of the Society. These men will be initiated at a meeting and banquet to be held at the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house Tuesday evening, April 26.

The men honored, who are all seniors or are finishing their junior years, are Herndon Athey, Milton Dennis, Irvin McGrew, William McSwain, Beveridge Miller, Larry Parker, Hugh Riley, Campbell Starr, and Fred Wallace.

Pyramid Honor Society was founded in 1909, and its membership is limited to four men in the fall elections and ten men in the spring elections who have maintained excellent scholarship and who have distinguished themselves in the advancement of student activities throughout three years of attendance at the University. Men who are leaders in their respective fields are elected.

Dean Borden to be Initiated

At the same initiation Dean William Cline Borden of the Medical School, will be put through. Dean Borden was elected to membership in the fall but was unable to attend the regular initiation and was held over until spring.

Invitations to the meeting and banquet are being sent to all living members of the Society and some of the founders are expected to be present.

Herndon Athey has distinguished himself as a member of the varsity football team for the past two years. He has been one of the mainstays of the team at guard position. Athey is a member of the Men's G. W. Club. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Milton Dennis is outstanding in several fields, chief among which are the business staff of the University Hatchet and the management of the track team. He has been a member of the Hatchet staff for three years, starting as a reporter in 1924 and serving as circulation manager and reporter in 1925 and as Business Manager in 1926-27. Dennis was assistant manager of the track team in 1926, manager of cross-country in the fall of 1926, and is manager of the 1927 track team. He is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, national collegiate journalistic fraternity, the Masonic Club and has served as vice-president two years, 1924-1926. He is a member of the G. W. U. Press Club, and has served on the reception committee of Junior Week in 1926 and the committee of the Law School banquet in 1927. He is a member of Acacia fraternity.

Was Basketball Manager

Irvin McGrew is outstanding as a manager of the basketball team and for work on the University Hatchet. He was assistant manager of the men's basketball team in 1924-25.

MEDICAL ALUMNI TO HOLD FIRST REUNION

Graduates From All Over Country to Meet at City Club May 18

Plans are rapidly going forward toward the reunion and banquet of the George Washington University Medical School Alumni to be held May 18, at the City Club. For many years such a reunion has been suggested, but no action taken. Now, due to the fact that the American Medical Association is holding its annual meeting the week of May 15th in this city, for the first time since 1883, this has been deemed a most appropriate time for the G. W. U. Medical Alumni to get together.

A sub-banquet or class reunion, by group seating at the dinner, will be one of the features. The various classes will be seated at separate tables according to their respective years, thus creating a class reunion and alumni banquet. Graduates who are scattered over the entire country are expected to attend.

The committee of arrangements for the affair consists of the following local physicians: Boyce R. Bolton, F. A. Hornaday, Wm. J. Mallory, Helen Gladys Kain, John A. Reed and C. N. Chipman, chairman. Tickets will cost $6 apiece and checks should be made payable to Dr. John A. Reed, Treasurer, and returned to Dr. C. N. Chipman, 1420 R. I. Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

A UNIVERSITY OF POOR MEN

One fact that is seemingly overlooked when anyone considers some difference between this University and other institutions is that this is literally a "University of Poor Men." Where but an insignificant percentage of the students of most other Universities are earning even part of their way through school, a very high per cent of George Washington students are paying their entire way through the University. The minority percentage of students who are not required to work to attend this institution are for the most part the sons and daughters of those in moderate circumstances, whose parents find themselves only able to send their children to school in town.

This fact gives this University an extremely democratic character, but necessarily influences the endowment, and in fact almost everything connected with the institution. Certainly in certain fields this lack of financial backing is a great handicap to the students, but it also has its good points. The students here are as a whole more serious minded, and have on the whole a greater purpose in life and at least as great a chance to succeed as their more wealthy brothers. While financial ease is certainly nothing to be refused, nevertheless the present financial character of George Washington University students may prove a blessing in disguise in making a unified University spirit more easily accomplished.

THE INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET

The first opportunity for the entire University to gather and put forward effort as a mass is presented in the Fourth Annual Inter-Class Track and Field Meet which will take place in the Central High School Stadium Saturday afternoon. This will be the first time since the ending of the football season last fall that the students have had an opportunity to gather out of doors and it is the first time this year a bit of class rivalry between every class will be shown.

Many students of the University who have not had the opportunity to go out for the track team will take part in the meet. The fraternity and sorority relays will cause the customary amount of interest. The effect of this meet in bringing together the University and producing class rivalry can not be praised too highly. The Men's G. W. Club has certainly found a worthy field for its endeavors in the staging of this annual meet.

LOST AND FOUND

"No, it has not been turned in," so says the Registrar's Office. "No, we have not found it," so say the janitors. "No, it has not been turned in to me," says the lady in the Dean's Office. And whenever anyone has lost anything he goes around from one to the other tearing his hair and wondering what could have happened. Some things that are lost are gone for good, naturally, but a great many things, such as notes and books that are found are not turned in simply because no one knows what to do with them. It is our proposal that one "Lost and Found" office be established and that everything be turned in to that one place. In this way everyone would know just where to go for the things that are turned in and the eternal triangle of Registrar's Office to Dean's Office to Janitors would be eliminated.

NOW that the campus goats have had their fling and the Inter-fraternity Goat Prom is over, everyone is looking forward to Easter festivities which will include dances, teas, and week-end trips.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity intends celebrating the spring vacation with a formal Easter dance to be held at the chapter house on Tuesday, April 19. A seven-piece Naomi Band will furnish the music and several "stunts" will be features of the evening. Professor and Mrs. Kayser and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gropp will be the guests of the chapter.

The Chi O pledges gave a snappy hop in honor of the active chapter at the Grace Dodge Tea Hut last Wednesday night.

Arrangements are being completed for the Junior Prom which is to be given at the Washington Hotel on April 29. The committee is selecting attractive favors and preparing for a large attendance.

Among those who spent the week-end at Annapolis were Peggy Loeffler and Mildred Brashiers.

The marriage of Minnie Rogers to John F. Holland was recently announced at Colorado Springs. Mr. Holland is a Sigma Chi from the Colorado Springs chapter and is at present living at the Sigma Chi house here.

Eva Lewis, Ruth Smith and Margaret Moreland gave a party for the Sigma Kappa goats at the home of Eva Lewis on Broad Branch Road last Saturday night.

Delta Pi chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity will hold its annual formal dinner and dance at the Italian Garden of the Mayflower Hotel on the evening of Friday, April 15. About 60 couples are expected to attend. The party will be sponsored by Senator and Mrs. George of Georgia, Senator and Mrs. Daniel Steck of Iowa, Senator-elect and Mrs. Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, Honorable and Mrs. John M. Evans, of Montana, Honorable and Mrs. Charles G. Edwards, of Georgia; Honorable Henry B. Steagall of Alabama, Major General and Mrs. Robert H. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Rhodes of Washington.

J. N. Danehower, Arch Recorder of the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity, visited the local chapter Saturday and Sunday.

About fifty couples attended a dance given by Kitty Boykin at her home last Saturday night.

The Phi Mu's held their weekly luncheon in the rooms last Saturday in honor of their official chaperons, Professors Moss, Kayser, Croissant and Bolwell.

Pep Club dances continue to be popular on Saturday mornings even though one was soaked a quarter if he hadn't come to the Pep Club meeting last Thursday.

The Chi O's gave a benefit program at Walter Reed Hospital the other night. "The Courtship of Miles Standish," and "Ain't It a Shame" were popular numbers on the program.

The Phi Alpha fraternity announces the pledging of Alexander C. Rosen, of New York City. Plans have been completed for the annual Alpha-Gamma Reunion which will take place on April 30th and May 1st. Many George Washington graduates are expected to attend this affair.

Acacia announces the pledging of James Kirkland.

Among those who attended the Interfraternity Prom at Maryland University recently were: Louise Du Bose, Kitty Strong, Harriett Ross, Louise Chasmer, Billie Wright, Virginia Blackstone, Mary Battle, Grace McLean, Hylda Wrenn, Margaret Schwartz, Elsie Talbert and Alice McAuliffe.

Virginia Blackstone gave a bridge party at her home in Bradley Lane last Wednesday night in honor of Marguerite Daly.

Alice Ranck was hostess when the Alpha Delta Pi's gave a handkerchief shower for Grace Collier recently.

The home of Virginia May was the scene of a bridge party given by the Alpha Delta Pi sorority last Wednesday.

Betty Joe Hopkins was hostess to the members of Sigma Kappa sorority and its pledges at a dance given at her home in honor of the pledges last Wednesday night.

Dean Rose gave a tea dance last week in honor of several members of the Professional Women's League which is meeting in the city.

Evelyn Jones and Dr. Denton were honor guests at a luncheon given by the Sigma Kappa's Friday, in the sorority rooms.

The Washington Rho Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon has planned an Easter Tea Dance on Saturday, April 23rd, between the hours of 4 and 7 at the Chapter House. Bids have been extended to social fraternities and sororities on the campus. The tea dance is being given with the idea of having as many representatives of social fraternities as possible attend. Fraternity men are requested to bring co-eds and sorority girls to bring "eds."

Phi Alpha Chapter of Chi Omega fraternity held their annual memorial services at Congressional Cemetery Sunday afternoon in honor of Carey Simons Smith, one of the founders of the fraternity who is buried there.

Marguerite Daly was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Matinee Lake Saturday, April 9th at St. Mark's Club. Several Kappa Kappa Gamma and all the members of Gamma Beta Pi were present. Yellow candles and baskets of spring flowers formed the table decorations.

Gamma Beta Pi announces the formal initiation of Myrtle Crouch, Naomi Crumley, "Chick" Martin, Roberta Shoemaker, Nap Sullivan, and Carolyn Wilcox, Tuesday night, April 12.

Margaret Smith, Gamma Beta Pi alumna, entertained Marguerite Daly and several friends, Friday night, April 8.

The Motion Picture

By JOHN MILLIGAN

I almost forgot my powerful piece this week, due to my excitement over the reviews that "Potemkin" received and my extreme embarrassment over Becky Sharp's revelation that I had never met her. I have at last seen "her," however. Here's the story:

Last week in her column Becky panhandled me for a couple of dollars to the private reopening of the Little Theater. I chartered a special delivery stamp to rush them to her, and eagerly watched all the tickets that night. When the Annie Oakley bearing her name finally arrived, picture my amusement when I found it was presented by a man! I immediately broke all records expunging her name from my little list of eligibles.

So the secret is out, Becky. Don't try to cover it up by claiming that the young chap was your husband—you wouldn't have missed hobnobbing with the diplomatic corps and society squadron at the opening.

This disillusionment reminds me of another—the surprise of everybody but a few intelligent critics last Wednesday when they discovered that the movies could be an art. When "Potemkin" was first unreeled the audience forgot Cecil B. De Mille.

Fred Niblo, "Michael Strogoff," Rudolph Valentino and the Pathe News for awhile. For they were witnessing what Mr. Leonard Hall called "the most astounding piece of work the pictures have seen"; the film that has almost unanimously been termed the greatest ever made.

Hm, says the ubiquitous boob, I seen Hoot Gibson in a poor pitcher once, and that proves that the movies ain't an art. Well, Max Reinhardt, Douglas Fairbanks, "The New Masses," the movie editors of New York City, and our own Mr. Hall have all pronounced "Potemkin" a piece of art. So if you believe that because Harold Bell Wright composes banal books literature cannot be an art, don't see "Potemkin." Keep your invincible ignorance intact.

So today I lecture lengthily on the way to appreciate this new art form. What is there in "Potemkin," which to the average mind is but a queer movie that is thrilling but ain't got no shots of William Haines kissing Eleanor Boardman? Simply, the picture is real, compelling, dynamic, and several other good adjectives. It is the story of people rising, it is a story whose hero is a warship, it is a story which really happened. It is unbelievably realistic, but it is realism retold by an intelligent mind behind a camera. "Potemkin" is a portrait of history expressed cinematically by an artist, just as a portrait painter produces a work of art on canvas with only the ugly mug of a Henry VIII to interpret.

I harp on "Potemkin" because it is as good an example as any. If anybody cares I will also list as works of art the following pictures: "The Last Laugh," "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," "The Merry Widow," "Polikushka," "Broken Blossoms," "Salome," "Chained," "Greed," "Moana," "The Gold Rush," "The Marriage of the Bear," "The Living Dead Man," and "A Woman of Paris." Of these only "A Woman of Paris," "Greed," and "The Last Laugh" can be called nearly perfect.

So we'll all think it over, and I promise a better essay next time. I'm busy at the moment arranging for a special midnight showing next Friday of this week's entire bill at the Little Theater. If you don't want to stand up and wait on Ninth Street trying to get into the house, some night, secure one of the reserved chairs for our first Friday film frolic. Extra reels, too. Apply at box office.

P. S. For Becky only. If you are really a girl, drop in today, Wednesday, at 6:30 and have dinner with me.

G. W. PROFS TALK AT SCHOOLMEN'S DINNER

Celebrate Twentieth Anniversary of Founding of Club; Professor Doyle Presides at Meeting

The twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Federal Schoolmen's Club was celebrated at a dinner held in the Hamilton Hotel, Saturday evening, April 2, at 7 o'clock. Henry Grattan Doyle, retiring president of the club and professor of Romance languages at George Washington University, presided.

Dr. John Foote, professor of diseases among children at Georgetown University, and Director of the American Children's Association, was the main speaker of the evening. His subject was "Bringing Up Parents."

Dean William Allen Wilbur, of George Washington University, Thomas W. Sidwell, Head of Friends' School, and Harry English, chief executive of the District of Columbia Board of Education, made commemorative addresses on "Twenty Years of the Federal Schoolmen's Club."

Officers for the ensuing year were elected, the results being as follows: S. D. Shankland, of the National Education Association, president; Charles Hart, of Eastern High School faculty, vice president; Elmer Louis Kayser, of George Washington University faculty, secretary; John A. Chamberlain, of Central High School faculty, treasurer; Robert W. Bolwell, of G. W. faculty, governor; Alvin W. Miller, of Central High School faculty, governor; Henry H. Burroughs, of the Central High School faculty, governor; Frank C. Daniel, governor.

The George Washington University faculty has taken a great deal of interest in this club; Dean Wilbur was the first president, and Dean Ruediger, Professor Bartsch, Dean Hodgkins and Professor Doyle have all likewise held this honor.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE COMES TO ABRUPT CLOSE

Coach Crum Pleased With Outlook, But Expected More Men Out

SEVERAL "FINDS" ARE SEASON'S BRIGHT SPOTS

Veterans Back In Old Form; New Plays Devised By Board of Strategy

Tuesday of last week saw the Spring football season at George Washington abruptly terminated after 15 days of conditioning under Coach H. Watson Crum.

Varsity baseball was immediately taken up and candidates for the nine reported last Thursday.

The football sessions proved successful, according to the mentor, from all angles except that the student body is taking the one-year rule too lightly. The largest number of men to ever assemble at the practices was 30, and the coach feels that there is much more material in the University which should have come out.

The squad that was formed, however, seemed full of pep and a determination to get some place.

During the course of training several "finds" were uncovered. "Shorty" Saunders, a half-pint speed merchant, impressed with his broken-field running. "Wheel" Barrow and "Speed" Morrow exhibited their ground-gaining propensities in the backfield, while "Husk" Davis displayed his tackling tricks on the line.

Those fans who are optimistically inclined will point to the fact that in the scrimmages the line and backfield showed to equal advantage. They feel that if either Saunders, Barrow or Morrow lives up to his early season showing the rest will be easy.

Season Injury-Free

Under the careful handling of the men by Coach Crum and Trainer Bert "Battler" Green, the season proved to be injury-free.

Equipment of the players was taken over by Manager Dick Dickinson and his assistant, Bayard Keough. These men had everything in tip-top, smooth-running order, and much credit is due them.

The first two weeks was limited to light workouts, consisting of exercises

G. W. CLUB READY FOR INTERCLASS MEET SATURDAY

Successful Field Day Forecast By Numerous Entry Blanks Received

WOMEN ENTRIES MUST TAKE PHYSICAL EXAM

Cups and Medals to Reward High Scorers in Meet at Central Stadium

Complete arrangements have been made for the Fourth Annual Inter-Class Track and Field Meet, which is to be held under the auspices of the G. W. Club, at the Central High School Stadium Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5.

Tomorrow night all letter men in the University are requested to meet with the G. W. Club in Room 21, Lisner Hall, at 8 o'clock to go over in detail plans for the four hours of intramural rivalry next Saturday. At this meeting minor officials and assistants will be appointed to assist in running off the events smoothly in the coming meet.

An increasingly large number of entry blanks are being turned in daily, according to officials of the club, who are greatly pleased with the interest shown by the students. Entry blanks, together with a letter urging all men possible to compete, have been sent to each fraternity house, and many have already returned large groups of signed applications. Registration for entrance can still be made by securing an entry blank at the Gymnasium, filling it out, and returning it to Harold Young, 1822 Eye Street N. W., who will receive all men's applications; or to Miss Virginia Hopkins, who will file all women's entry blanks.

Women Must Be Examined

All women who signify their intention of entering the meet must submit to a physical examination to ascertain their fitness for participation in athletic contests. As a further restriction, no woman may enter more than three events in addition to the Inter-society Relay Race. In keeping with the newly adopted athletic policy of the University, the 100-yard dash for women will be eliminated from the list of events. All of these regulations have been made because of the fact that the women athletes are not in strict training, and excessive participation in the contests might be injurious.

KAPPA SIGS BEAT THETA DELT NINE

Score 12 to 3 in Second Contest Of Interfraternity Baseball Series

OTHER GAMES POSTPONED

Wheaton, Pitcher for Winning Team, Fans Sixteen and Knocks Home Run

Kappa Sigma took the second game of the season in the Interfraternity baseball series Sunday morning when they defeated Theta Delta Chi, 12 to 3 in a spectacular and well fought game on a muddy diamond. The games scheduled between Sigma Chi and Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Phi Epsilon, and the Acacia-Kappa Alpha contest were postponed because of muddy diamonds. These games will probably be played off on Easter Sunday, when no other games are scheduled, or as one game of a double-header on one of the following Sundays.

In addition to these games are those which were scheduled for Sunday, April 3, but were also postponed because of the condition of the government lots after the heavy rains of last week. These games are Sigma Chi vs. Phi Sigma Kappa; S. A. E. vs. T. U. O.; and Sigma Nu vs. Phi Sigma Kappa. The last named game should prove especially interesting because of the close race for the cup of last year between these teams resulting in the victory of the Phi Sigs in a hard fought game with a verdict of 8 to 7.

Home Run Made

The game Sunday was punctuated by several spectacular plays on both sides, among which was a home run hit made by Wheaton, pitcher and shortstop for Kappa Sigma. Wheaton also puzzled his batters to the point of sixteen strikeouts. Scoring in six out of the nine innings to Theta Delta Chi's two, Kappa Sigma took the game on a 12 to 3 score.

The lineup of the teams was as follows:

Theta Delta Chi:	Kappa Sigma:
Pledger, c.	Popham, c.
Battle, p. (1. f.)	Wheaton, p. (s. s.)
Pollard, 1. f. (p.)	Russell, 1b.
O'Halloran, 1b.	Roberts, 2b.
Brown, 2b.	Sapp, s. s. (p. j.)
Finley, s. s.	Evans, 3b.
Sullivan, 3b.	Glover, 1. f.
McGhan, c. f.	Birdseye, c. f.
Higgins, r. f.	Meeks, r. f.
Welch, r. f.	Clark, r. f.

Score by Innings Total
Theta Delta Chi 0 0 0 0 0 2 1 0—3
Kappa Sigma 2 1 2 0 0 3 2 0—12

The schedule calls for the next games to be played on the Sunday after Easter, and the teams to be matched for that date are Sigma Chi vs. Kappa Sigma; S. A. E. vs. Acacia; Theta Delta Chi vs. Phi Sigma Kappa; and Kappa Alpha vs. Theta Upsilon Omega.

So far, the schedule has been one in name only, as only two games out of a scheduled eight have been played, and unless the weather turns out to be better on the coming Sundays, the date of the ending of the series, which, at present is May 8, may have to be postponed.

Co-ed Rifle Team Undefeated; Take National Women's Title

Record Never Before Attained By a College Women's Rifle Team is Hung Up By George Washington University Girls

By ERMYNTRUDE VAIDEN

The Co-ed rifle season came to a glorious close recently when the Colonial girls defeated the crack University of Maryland team on the local range with a perfect score. This is a record in women's inter-collegiate rifle. Since the initiation of a women's rifle team at the University six years ago, the team has held a prominent place nationally in this sport. This year, however, in taking the National Women's Championship, they have had themselves recognized as the leading women's rifle team of the United States.

Shooting in 16 matches the girls scored perfect targets in half of them. After the first match of the season in which the team recorded 498 out of a possible 500, the G. W. U. co-eds did not drop more than one point in any match.

After a 498 match against Maine the Buff and Blue riflers scored a series of easy victories. The West Virginians went down to defeat 499-479. Michigan defaulted to a perfect score and Drexel Institute lost a shoulder-to-shoulder match on their own range 499-495.

N. R. A. Record

The score made in the National Rifle Association match fired during the Christmas holidays is a record "never before equaled" in women's shooting, 2,991 out of a possible 3,000. The team had by this time reached its stride; for only two points were dropped in the ensuing nine matches. Cornell, University of Delaware, University of Washington, Keene Normal School, a second match with Maine, and a shoulder-to-shoulder match on the local range with Maryland were all victories made with perfect scores. Penn State College was defeated 499-495 and Drexel Institute 499-491 in a second shoulder-to-shoulder match.

The only match which has not been heard from is the Dot and Circle Club match in which George Washington also made a perfect score.

Helen Prentiss holds the team record for marksmanship having lost only 5 points in 16 matches, four of them having been lost in the N. R. A. championship match. Marjorie Folsom and Helen Taylor run her a close second, the former dropping 7 points in 16 matches, and the latter dropping 6 points in 15 matches.

Prospects Bright for Next Year

Prospects are extremely bright for next year. The team loses its captain, Katherine Shoemaker, and manager, Ermytrude Valden, but three of this year's prize-winning team were freshmen and the squad does not lose a single girl next year by graduation.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB GIVES CONCERT AT PETWORTH

The Girls' Glee Club gave a concert last Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Epworth League, at the Petworth Episcopal Church. Miss Estelle Wentworth, the club coach and well known in local music circles, conducted.

Evelyn Best, Gladys George, and Estelle Humphrey were the three soloists. Several selections were also given by a quartet, composed of Gladys Jones, Mary Ewin, Roberta Harrison, and Maxine Alverston.

The Glee Club expects to present a concert at the University about May 1.

G. W. U. RIFLEMEN TOP PENN STATE

Indoor Inter-Collegiate Schedule Starts Saturday; Six Will Go

NORWICH TEAM TO BE MET

West Point Team is Challenged Again; Match May Occur in Near Future

Firing shoulder-to-shoulder in the G. W. U. Rifle range the G. W. U. Rifle men defeated Penn State on Saturday, April 9 with a score of 1,429 against 1,415. The official score-keeper of the match was Jensen of the National Guard team and the five high of the eight men scoring were counted.

On Saturday, April 16 the indoor inter-collegiate will be shot in New York and a contingent from G. W. U. consisting of Riley, Plugge, Strawbridge, Parsons, and Campbell will fight to keep the championship, which they now hold. At that time they will meet Norwich, the only team which has defeated G. W. U. this year, and the outcome of this meet will probably decide the victor.

Schriker May Shoot

West Point has again been challenged by the Colonials and if it accepts a match will be fired at the Military Academy on Monday, April 18. In addition to the six men shooting in the Indoor Inter-collegiate Schriker will participate in the Army match, if the West Pointers accept.

In the match with Penn State G. W. U. scored as follows:

Campbell	291
Leghey	288
Strawbridge	285
Parsons	284
Plugge	281

Others participating on the Colonial side were Riley, Schriker, and Prentiss.

TRACKMEN TRAIN FOR INDIAN MEET

William and Mary Squad to be Met at Williamsburg April 23

OUTDOOR PRACTICE HELD

Catholic University, Gallaudet, Johns Hopkins on Schedule; All Meets Away From Home

In preparation for the first meet of the season with William and Mary at Williamsburg on April 23, the track team has been practicing strenuously during the past week on the Georgetown track. Afternoon work-outs were staged on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 4:45 p. m., under the supervision of Coach Tom Probey, while evening drills took place in the gymnasium on the other days at 7 p. m. As soon as the days get longer, the outdoor track will be available to the night as well as the day squads.

Beside the contest with the Indians, the schedule includes a dual meet with Catholic University on May 7 in the Brookland stadium, another with the Gallaudet squad at Kendall Green on May 14, and a three-cornered meet with Catholic University and Johns Hopkins at the C. U. stadium.

Distance Men Shine

Because of the lack of an athletic field, all the meets in which the George Washington team will compete are away from home, although only the William and Mary engagement is outside the city.

From the material that is available, it is evident that long distance events will be the main point winners for the Colonials. A number of men, however, have turned out recently for the field and shorter events, so stiff competition will be offered by the local athletes in all the meets.

Most of the men who have been at the practices have signified their intentions of entering the Inter-Class meet on April 16, and it is indicated that the entry list for this meet will be large. All students who are planning to compete in the Inter-Class contest are urged to turn out for track practice regardless of whether or not they are going to compete in the later meets.

GOLF TEAM LOSES TO CONGRESSIONAL CLUB

Hard Fought Contest Goes to Local Club in Match Played Sunday

The Varsity golf team was defeated last Sunday by the Congressional Country Club golf team in a hard-fought match. The contest was held at the Congressional Country Club, Bethesda, Md.

This is the second match of the schedule, which includes several of the large universities of the East. Last week the team was defeated by the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, Va., and both matches were played under adverse weather conditions, Sunday's game being played against a strong wind and many slippery greens.

The scoring, which allowed three points to each foursome, one point for each individual match and one point for best ball, is as follows: G. W. U.—first, foursome, Capt. Chas. Cole 0, Chas. Brauner 1; Congressional C. C.—Capt. Page Hufty 1, S. Colladay 0; Congressional 1 point for best ball. Second foursome, G. W. U.—Frank Mazzulo 0, Jack Atherton 0; Congressional C. C.—Royce Hough 1, Dr. W. J. Cusack 1. Congressional C. C. 1 point for best ball. Third foursome, G. W. U.—Bob Morrow 0, Bob Grove 0; Congressional C. C.—R. Lester Rose 1, M. Jeffress 1. Congressional C. C. 1 point for best ball. Fourth foursome, G. W. U.—Bill Shreve 0, Ralph Thrasher 0; Congressional C. C.—Will Hays 0, Frank Thyson, Jr. 0; G. W. U. 1 point for best ball. Fifth foursome, G. W. U.—Dick Schulze 0, Joe Bloom (Mgr.) 1; Congressional C. C.—Frank Thyson, Sr. 1, Brook Beyer 0; Congressional C. C. 1 point for best ball. There will be no match this coming week, according to schedule, but the team will meet the University of Pennsylvania on April 20 at the Columbia C. C., Washington, D. C.

The various members of the team are rapidly rounding into shape and showed splendid work in the game with Virginia's crack outfit, which is considered one of the strongest in the South. With over a week before the next match, the team will have plenty of time to shape up for the Penn match.

G. W. Avukah Sponsors International Debate

Zionism as Solution to Jewish Problem to be Subject of Forensic Contest

An international debate between a visiting team from England and the team of the George Washington Avukah Chapter is being sponsored by the Students' Zionist Organization of America. The question to be debated is: "Is it sound policy to present Zionism as the solution to the Jewish problem?"

The members of the English team are Arthur Lowrie, B. A., LL.D., of Cambridge, Dr. David Peck, of Johannesburg University and University of Leeds, and Miss Bertha Gundersky, Trinity College, Dublin. The local team is composed of George Levine, Joseph Levinson, of George Washington University, and Mendes Sacks of the University of Maryland. Members of the foreign team have already arrived in this country. They were received in New York by Mayor Walker.

The members of the committee in charge of the arrangements are Benjamin Henkin, Rebecca Rosenburt, Rebecca Rhoads, Elizabeth Harrow, Lena Hyatt, and Charles Baross. The committee has not yet definitely decided where the debate will be held.

RACKETERS DROP OPENING CONTEST

George Washington Tennis Team Loses Match to Syracuse Net Players

CLOSE MATCHES STAGED

Syracuse Netmen Take Six Matches From Locals; Schedule to Be Arranged Soon

In the opening contest of the season, the George Washington tennis team was defeated by the Syracuse netmen, six matches to nothing, last Wednesday on the cement courts at 17th and B streets. Handicapped by the absence of two of its best men, the local racket squad offered some stiff opposition to the New Yorkers, three of the matches going to three sets before a decision was reached.

The closest event of the afternoon was the singles match between Smith, Syracuse, and Detwiler, G. W. The first set was a nip and tuck battle, which Smith finally won by an 11-9 count. In the second set Detwiler took the lead by breaking through his opponent's service for a 6-4 victory. The final set resulted in some accurate placing and driving by Smith, who won set and match by a score of 6-3.

In the doubles events Detwiler and Neal, G. W., made Smith and Kuckoff play hard tennis for three sets to gain another Syracuse victory. This also resulted in an extra game set, the first one requiring 12 games for a verdict to be reached. George Washington displayed its offensive strength in the second set by scoring a 6-2 win, only to lose the third and last set, 6-4.

Schedule Being Arranged

Cohen, Syracuse, defeated Durand, G. W., by a belated rally after Durand took the first set 6-3. Both men exhibited an excellent serving game.

This was the first competition of the season for both teams, and the results indicate that the local netmen will have a successful season. In Wednesday's game the Colonials were without the services of Kenny Abrams and Willoughby Emmes, who were unable to play.

A schedule is being arranged by Bill Shreve, manager of the team, but this is not ready for publication yet.

Results in detail: Syracuse vs. George Washington Singles: Smith (S) defeated Detwiler (G. W.) 11-9, 4-6, 6-3.

Kuckoff (S) defeated D. Sickler (G. W.) 7-5, 6-0.

Cohen (S) defeated Durand (G. W.) 3-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Tannenbaum (S) defeated Jacquette (G. W.) 6-0, 6-3.

Doubles: Smith and Kuckoff (S) defeated Detwiler and Neal (G. W.) 7-5, 2-6, 6-1.

Cohen and Tannenbaum (S) defeated D. Sickler and Durand (G. W.) 6-4, 7-5.

SPRING GRIDIRON DRILLS COME TO ABRUPT CLOSE

for rusty and squeaking joints. The third week, however, real football was taken up in all seriousness. Punting, line-plunging, tackling and everything that goes with it were indulged in by the candidates.

Capt. Dave Allhouse, former leader Henry Sapp, Jimmy Carey and most of the other veterans seemed to have regained their cunning despite the lay-off from last season.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the season just closed, was the initiation of a series of new plays devised by the Colonial board of strategy. These fresh systems of attack were drilled into the players' heads until the men fell automatically into the correct positions on hearing the signal. The Spring session proved invaluable to Crum in enabling him to get some sort of a perspective on the material from which he intends to mould a clever, alert and winning combination next Fall.

Stocks Expert at G. W. 3 Years; Identity Hid

Joseph H. Katz of Brooklyn, N. Y. Given Away by Note to Hatchet

The hidden identity of a George Washington student has just been revealed. Joseph H. Katz, who is now enrolled in the Graduate School, has attended the University for three years, hiding his true identity as a successful stocks and bonds expert of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Katz recently entertained his friends at the Wardman Park Inn, and was expected to reveal himself at the time. But no one knew the truth until it came to the Hatchet in the form of an anonymous letter. The information has been verified by Mr. Katz's confession, although he refuses to tell any additional personal facts.

G. W. CLUB READY FOR CLASS MEET SATURDAY

No restrictions have been placed on the number of events a man may enter. Rules essentially the same as those last year have been printed on the entry blanks, and will govern the competition this year. One or two minor changes have been made in the events, however. The distance for the hurdle race, held for the first time this year, will be 110 yards instead of 220 yards as previously announced. The 600-yard run has been made a "closed" instead of a "novice" event, as has heretofore been the case.

Officials Named

All students in the University are eligible to participate in the events with the exception of track letter men, who can only take part in "open" events. As a further inducement to those who have not won their letter in track, fourth, fifth, and sixth places in the open events count 2, 1 and ½ points respectively, for men who try in the closed events.

In addition to Professor Henry G. Doyle, Professor Harold G. Sutton, and Mr. Gilbert L. Hall, who have been named judges of the meet, Hilory A. Tolson, former president of the G. W. Club, is to be chief judge. Thomas F. Probey, track coach, is to act as official starter, while James Springman, Central High School official, will be chief timekeeper. George Martin and Milton L. Dennis have been chosen as clerks of the course. Miss Virginia Hopkins, director of women's athletics, will assist generally in the women's events. All members of the G. W. Club are to be present and serve as timekeepers and minor officials for individual events.

Class leaders promise that a hard fight will be made for the Louis A. Fischer trophy, which is awarded every year to the class scoring the highest number of points in the meet. In 1924 and 1925 the senior class won the cup, but last year the sophomores were victorious in the meet, and were given the cup.

Fischer Trophy Up

This trophy was presented to the University in behalf of the friends of Louis A. Fischer, by Joshua W. Evans. It was accepted in behalf of the University by President Lewis as a fitting gift in the memory of a brilliant athlete and learned scholar.

Louis A. Fischer was a student at George Washington and later an instructor of physics here. At the time of his death he was Chief of the Bureau of Standards. He was a champion oarsman on the Potomac, and also excelled in tennis.

The names of the high point man and high point woman will be engraved on the two boards in the Gymnasium. The high point winner in the men's events will also be awarded the Thomas F. Probey trophy, while the high point winner in the women's events will receive the Women's G. W. Club trophy. Second, third and fourth winners in each of the men's open, closed, and women's events, win gold, silver, and bronze medals, respectively.

A cup donated by H. W. Crum will go to the winning Interfraternity Relay team. The Pan-Hellenic Council has donated the Intersorority Relay Cup, which will be awarded to the winning sorority relay team.

ORATORICAL CONTEST FOR JEWISH STUDENTS

Union of Hebrew Congregations Will Give Three Prizes To Each District

A prize oration contest to take place throughout the country on Jewish topics of interest, has been announced by the Department of Synagog and School Extension of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, promoting religious work in the American universities.

The country has been divided up into districts, the local district, Number 41, consisting of the District of Columbia and Northern Virginia. Dr. Abram Simon, Rabbi of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, and former president of the Board of Education in this city, is supervisor of this district.

The competition, which is open to all Jewish students attending universities in this district, will close May 1, 1927. Orations should be not less than 2,000 words and not more than 2,500 words in length. Only one prize will be awarded to a student, but each contestant may submit as many orations as he desires. Signs of Spring

SPRING is here... Confound that chemistry! Must have been asleep. Eleven-thirty and nothing done. What a mess! Atomic weights—ionization—reversible reactions. [Eleven-fifty.] No headway. Better get up at 5:00 and do the blasted problems.

Spring's in the air. Maybe it's that. Or a touch of nostalgia. [Vague memories, dreamily reminiscent of other spring times bring back thoughts of home.] Well, it won't be long now. Gee, it'll be great to see the folks again.

Sure it will. But why wait till school's over. You can TALK to them ANY TIME. You'll find there's nothing so cheering as a weekly telephone chat with Mother or Dad.

DR. LEWIS ADDRESSES ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Is Speaker at The Forty-sixth Anniversary Meeting at Rauscher's

"Professional vocabularies" are becoming too numerous in this country," President Lewis declared, addressing the forty-sixth anniversary meeting of the Associated Charities in Rauscher's last Monday night. He pointed out the possibility of the average citizen not comprehending, because of the terms in which it is presented, the scope and purpose of the work done by the association. "If we can help them understand the value of the work and with what it is concerned they are very likely to be interested in it," he said.

Stress should be placed on the economic importance of the work, and not on the charity side, he continued. "The community is interested mainly in the placing of the down-and-out on his feet, so that he may support himself and his family and thus not only relieve the city of that responsibility, but that he may become an asset to the community."

Cuno H. Rudolph was chosen president of the Associated Charities. Among those elected as members of the board of managers were: Miss Mabel T. Boardman, Mr. John Joy Edson, Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, Judge J. Wilmer Latimer and Mr. Corcoran Thom.

The general secretary, Walter S. Ufford, stated that appeals for help are increasing and that $70,000.00 would be needed for relief work this year.

MME. STEIN CONCLUDES LECTURES ON FRANCE

"Women of Modern France," was the topic of the last of a series of three lectures given by Madame de Mare Stein in Corcoran Hall, 1, at three o'clock on April 14, 16, and 18, respectively.

"French Women From Madame de Pompadour to Marie Antoinette," and "From Empress Josephine to Empress Eugenie," were the titles of the two preceding lectures. In the former the chaotic conditions and immorality of the period of the Revolution and the Directory were stressed.

In contrast were given the prevailing charms of the women of the first Empire. In the latter the transition from the second Empire to the Republic of today was discussed. Traced in detail was the development of the French woman to the present day. Mostly literary characters were given examples.

FRESHMAN GIRLS TO GIVE BENEFITS

Benefit Performance at Local Theater and Luncheon Planned

PLEDGES OF $60 ARE ASKED

Sophomore Class Has Similar Program Planned to Raise Quota of $10,000

Plans now being made for raising the $10,000 endowment fund pledged last June by the freshman women are to include a theater benefit performance and a luncheon to be served on the campus. These and other projects are occupying the attention of the women of both the sophomore and freshman classes. Committees have been appointed and pledges are now being received in gratifying numbers, according to Dean Rose, who originated this particular endowment idea.

"The freshman women of last year took up the project," said Dean Rose, "and promised to raise by the end of their senior year the necessary $10,000 for endowing a library alcove in unit 3. The freshman women of this year plan to do the same." The project is one which can be taken up by each entering class, money being secured each year through pledges and benefits until at the end of the senior year the $10,000 minimum is reached.

Theater Benefits
The "theater benefit" plan, as explained by Margaret Loeffler, chairman of this committee, is the selling of tickets for some dramatic production in the city, a certain percentage of the proceeds for that night being allotted to the University by agreement with the managers of the production. Although plans for the benefit have not been definitely settled, the committee is now working on the project. Serving with Margaret Loeffler on this committee are Helen Taylor, Winifred Beall and Ruth Campbell. All girls wishing to help sell tickets for the performance may consult members of this committee or Dean Rose.

Pledges are steadily coming in. The usual pledge is for $60 to be paid in four installments during the four college years. The girls who pledge the money are to earn or save it and not "ask Dad" for the required amount. Although the average pledge is for $60 any amount may be pledged, according to the means or desires of the student. "Everyone should help in this endowment drive," thinks Dean Rose. Those desiring to help by pledging money should see either the members of the sophomore or of the freshman endowment committee. Serving on the sophomore committee are "Billie" Wright, chairman, and Virginia Strickland, Helen Taylor, Mary Lewis Beard, and Margaret Loeffler. On the freshman committee are: Winifred Beall, chairman, and Grace McLean, Ruth Campbell, Peggy Somervell and Effie Wade.

SUICIDE WAVE IS NOT CONFINED TO STUDENTS

the student has actually worked hard, then failing, feels himself unfit to live.

Slowness No Disgrace
"We have, perhaps, come to regard passing or failing too highly," he continued, "and have drawn too wide a line of demarcation between those mentally alert and those who are not."

"If we can not solve a hundred problems in algebra as speedily as our neighbors, we have no more reason to feel inferior to him than if we cannot run a hundred-yard dash as quickly as he." "Everyone," he was certain, "is in some way superior to his neighbor. The important thing is to discover and develop this trait in which he is most abundantly endowed."

"The causes of suicide are as wide as the field of human desire; when there is a marked thwarting of any instinctive need, unhappiness and the temptation to kill oneself ensue. Most frequently, failure in business, love affairs, and the blasting of ambition are the causes to which elders are subject more than youth."

Cites Juliet and Cleo
"That middle aged people have more reason to commit suicide is shown by the comparison of the tragedies of Romeo and Juliet with those of Antony and Cleopatra. In the case of Romeo and Juliet thwarting was primarily in the field of love, while both the love and ambition of Antony and Cleopatra were blasted."

"The mere fact that a youth commits suicide because his sweetheart goes to the theater with some one else can not be allayed to his college training. It can happen anywhere. Middle age has in addition the causes of disease and a natural inability to recover from disappointment. Youth, I believe, is distinctly the age of health, hope, and happiness. In other words," he concluded, "there are more reasons for suicide among middle-aged people than among college students."

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN
Der Deutsche Verein will hold a special meeting on Wednesday, April 13, at 7:30 o'clock in Building 4, Room 24. All members and interested students are urged to attend, as important plans are to be made for an inter-language festival in May and special plans are to be discussed for next year.

ABOLISH EXAMS
PHILADELPHIA—All examinations at Temple University have been abolished. The psychology department has declared them antiquated and inaccurate.

LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

SPIRIT CLUB PRAISED BY LEWIS IN SPEECH

Prexy Reviews Achievements in Athletics and Other Activities; Urges More Participation

"This is one of the most significant things that has happened in the University," said President Lewis in congratulating the Pep Club on its organization at the meeting last Thursday. "We don't realize how much the University has done this year in activities. The women's rifle team has won the National Championship; the men's rifle team holds second place. We have done well in basketball, football, dramatics, and the Hatchet is one of the outstanding university publications. The Men's Glee Club will sing at a local theater soon and our debating team is to be sent to Europe. All this shows a growing interest in activities."

"Our only weakness," he concluded, "is in the small number who participate. I suggest that everyone fill out the blanks in the Hatchet giving the name of some high school boy or girl of your acquaintance who may be interested in George Washington. You should reach out and get the best in leadership of activities in all the high schools. You should exert an effort to attract as many persons of the type you yourself are, who will come out for activities and who will strengthen the scholastic standing of George Washington."

Two Alma Mater songs, one composed by Eugene Sweeney and the music of the other composed by Elmer Brown, with words by Larry Parker, were sung by the George Washington Quartet. The meeting adjourned by singing "Hail to the Buff and Blue."

Women Prepare For Inter-Class Track Meet

No Woman May Enter More Than Three Events, Exclusive of Sorority Relay

Women of the University have a varied program to carry out at the Fourth Annual Inter-Class Track and Field meet to be held Saturday afternoon at Central High School under the auspices of the Men's G. W. Club. It includes the 50 and 70-yard dash, the running high and broad jumps, the discus throw and the shotput.

No woman may enter more than three events, two of which may be running. This does not include the inter-sorority relay of one-fourth mile, which may be an entrant's fourth event.

Rule 5 of the newest of rules just issued is very important. It reads, "Winners of Individual Point Trophies in past Inter-Class Meets will not be awarded point trophies or medals, although they are eligible to compete for points for the Class Trophy." It is hoped that this rule will encourage more women to enter the events, for there will be no repetition of past individual awards.

Every entrant of the meet must have a medical examination from the University physician before her registration will be accepted.

NOVEL REUNION PLANNED BY CENTRAL H. S. ALUMNI

Something new in the way of reunions is being planned by the Central High School Alumni Association. On April 29 there will be a reception at 6:30, dinner at 7:00 and dance at 9:30 at the City Club. Two dollars and a half will be charged for the three affairs.

Mr. Maurer will act as toastmaster and Dr. Sze, C. H. S. '97, minister from China, will be the speaker of the evening.

Ushers and hostesses will be chosen under the direction of Kitty Ruth, '23, a G. W. student and will be picked from popular George Washington students who are Central graduates.

The dance committee is under the direction of Parke Arnold, '22 and Virginia Blackstone, '24. Those who cannot attend the dinner may attend the dance by paying one dollar for stags or one-fifty per couple at the door.

TENNIS COMES TO FORE AS SPRING SPORTS START

Girls just learning to play tennis have had special arrangements for courts made for them on the Monument grounds. On Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of each week until further notice a number of courts will be held open from 2 until 4 o'clock for George Washington University girls. Entrance may be had by presentation of the student activity card.

The courts on the campus may be reserved through Miss Hopkins.

As is customary in all major sports, credits in the cup race will be given to any girl who goes out for tennis. The number of hours required to count as one credit will be decided upon later.

Names of the girls who have been chosen to act as assistant managers of tennis will be announced next week.

MENORAH CLUB
S. Ratoport will speak at the next meeting of the Menorah Club to be held tonight at 8:30 in Corcoran Hall 17.

MUSIC TO BE PUBLISHED

Three Dancing Choruses Are Now Perfecting Their Steps; Score Complete

With the completion of the selection of the permanent cast, rehearsals for Troubadours' musical comedy, "Not Yet Fleurette," are progressing rapidly. The cast as it stands consists of the following: Elizabeth Wright, Fleurette; Carr Ferguson, John Ruysdael; Henriette, Marion Campbell; Trizie Murphy, Ruth Newburn; Henry Hennessey Henry, Larry Parker; Marjander, Ellen Buell; Rajah Hari Hari, Wilbur Bailey; Henri de Rochemont, William Wade; Raquelle, Helen Walton; Suzanne, Ruth Seltick; August, Stuart Bushong; and Jaques, Rob Williams.

A special feature of the production will be the apache chorus of male voices composed of Gustave, James Fleck; Paul, Ralph Harris; Robert, William Bradley; Georges, Firth Marquis; Marcel, Henry Klinge; Jean, Lawrence Robinson, and Armand, J. Miller.

Score Orchestrated

The three dancing choruses of thirty-two girls are under the direction of Mary Virginia Leckie. The choruses have been divided according to height, so that there will be a small, a medium, and a tall one.

The musical score, by Elmer Brown, is especially well adapted, and several numbers promise to attain the popularity on the campus of "Come a Little Closer," and "Just a Kiss" of last year. They will be on sale after each performance. The orchestrations for "Cottage of Dreams," "Golden Hours," "What If" have been completed and they will be played at the Junior Prom. The book, "Not Yet Fleurette," was written by Larry Parker, who is the director and member of the cast as well.

Performances will be held on the nights of May 3, 4, and 5, in the Gym Theater. Reserved tickets are now on sale, and block tickets are being provided for any organizations which may be interested in them. This is an entirely new idea and one which is expected to encourage larger attendance at the performances.

The open-air swimming pool adds to the delights of the voyage.

INTERFRAT GOAT PROM STAGED BY NEOPHYTES

Dance Given at S. A. E. House Friday Night by Pledges Voted Great Success

George Washington's first Interfraternity Goat Prom, which was held at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon House on last Friday night by this year's neophytes was declared a decided success by all in attendance, and is believed to have set a standard for next year's pledges.

With decorations consisting of the banners of the fraternities of the campus and snappy music by Naomi Band, who featured "The Buff and the Blue" and the respective fraternity songs, a dance rivaling the Interfraternity Prom in spirit was produced.

Novel Favors Given

After intermission the pledges and their guests assembled under their respective banners where unique favors in the form of limp leather engagement books with covers of blue suede, upon which the seal of the University and the words "Interfraternity Goat Prom, 1927" appeared in gold with blue and gold pencils attached with leather thongs were presented.

Chaperons of the Prom were S. A. E. Housemother Hargrave, Prof. Elmer L. Kayser and Mrs. Kayser, Prof. Henry Gratton Doyle, and Mrs. Doyle, and Mr. Courland Baker.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon house committee co-operated with the dance committee, of which Thomas C. Tenniswood was chairman, and with the other committees to make the dance a success.

G. W. CO-ED CHOSEN TO ATTEND STATE FESTIVAL

LEGAL SOCIETIES HEAR ADDRESS BY JUDGE E. B. PARKER

Combined Law School and Columbian-G. W. Associations
Meet at Banquet

OFFICERS ELECTED AT MEETING BEFORE DINNER

Utah Glee Club, Composed of 20
G. W. Students From Utah, Features Entertainment

By HARRY S. WENDER.

In pointing out that practical idealism, together with constructive imagination was essential to progress, Judge Edwin B. Parker in his address at the combined Law School and Columbian-George Washington Law School Association banquet last Friday night, asserted that the surest way to achieve professional and pecuniary success is unwaveringly to pursue the highest ideals of the profession.

Judge Parker's speech, entitled "Business in Law," contained many intimate experiences of his legal career, illustrating the practicability of using real service as the ultimate goal, with professional recognition and pecuniary rewards as only a part of actual success, and serving as incidents thereto. He stressed the importance of confidence in business dealings, saying, "Confidence, which springs from integrity, fair dealing, and efficient service is the foundation of success in any profession or vocation. It is the cornerstone of 'good will,' frequently one of the greatest assets of any established professional or business institution."

To those of the senior law class present, Judge Parker said, "Every man owes to himself and those dependent upon him the duty to earn a livelihood, and where practical to acquire a competency. But the world owes to no man a living simply because he elects to engage in the practice of the law, but only an opportunity, equal to that of every other man, to render a service, the function of his profession, one of the rewards for which is individual profit. When individual gain is truly the measure of the service rendered, then the greater his gain the greater the value of the individual to the world. Then a fortune becomes a badge of honor rather than a reproach."

Is Eminent Jurist

The eminent jurist, who is Chairman of the Law School Committee of the University Board of Trustees, is now serving in Washington as Umpire of the Mixed Claims Commission, concerning Germany and the United States, and also as sole Commissioner of the Tripartite Claims Commission, adjusting claims between this country, Austria and Hungary. In answering President Lewis' statement earlier in the evening that he was passing out of the picture, Judge Parker declared that this was an impossibility because his personality was indelibly engraved on all that George Washington University stands for.

President Lewis, while speaking at the dinner, told of how much it meant to him to be able to carry away the memory of his friendship with the members of the Faculty and Board of Trustees of the University, who, after all, embody the life of the institution.

Although he had not had the opportunity to make personal contacts with students which he would have liked to have made, which was one of the reasons for the acceptance of his new post, he had been able to make a real personal contact with the members of the official bodies, and this would always remain a joy to him, he said. Leaving with the deepest feeling of love and admiration for the Law School, he stated that he was doing so with the knowledge that it was looking into a far greater future than many could anticipate.

Following the dinner which took place in the ballroom of the City Club, the three class presidents of the Law School were introduced by Dean William C. Van Vleck who served as toastmaster for the evening. Samuel Avis, president of the first-year class, lamented the attachment of the name of "freshmen" to his group, the members of which he contended had all had at least two years of previous college work.

Junior President Speaks

Theodore Shields, Junior Class President, voiced his pride in the high scholastic standing of the Law School and the fact that it was the only grade "A" law school in the city. William J. Wilkins, Senior Class President, described a humorous baseball game participated in by faculty members last summer and expressed the desire that those who graduated this year would establish alumni associations wherever they might go, in order to give their moral support toward a greater G. W. now, and their financial support later on in life.

At a meeting of the Columbian-George Washington Law School Association, held preceding the banquet, elections of new officers took place and committee reports were heard. Alexander W. Gregg, '23, General Council for the Internal Revenue, and at present in charge of the government case against Senator Couzens, in connection with the latter's sale of his Ford Motor Stock, was elected president for the ensuing year. Peyton Gordon, '26, U. S. District Attorney, was elected first vice-president; Frank H. Stephens, Assistant Corporation Counsel, second vice-president; William L. Symons, '25, patent attorney, third vice-presdent; and George W. Dalzell, '27, and '28, treasurer.

The new executive committee consists of Olive Geiger, '21, president of the Women's Bar Association of this city; Moutrie Hitt, '25; and Major General Walter Bethel, '24, former Judge Advocate General. Vernon H. Brewster was reelected executive secretary of the association.

The entertainment feature of the banquet was the Utah Glee Club, composed of twenty G. W. students from the state of Utah. They furnished a very fine musical program. A dance followed the dinner. The faculty committee in charge of the affair consisted of Prof. Alvin E. Evans, chairman, Prof. William T. Fryer, and Miss Helen Newman. Co-operating with this committee were Edward Stafford, president of the Columbian-G. W. U. Law School Association, and Vernon Brewster, executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

Hall Of Nations At Hotel Washington Is Ideal Ballroom For Junior Prom

Hall is Finished in Blue and Gold; Has Excellent Dance Floor and Comfortable Seats For Everyone; Popular Eleven-Piece Orchestra to Furnish Music

By JOE D. WALSTROM

The Hall of Nations ballroom at the Hotel Washington seems to be made especially for the Junior Prom, which is to take place on Friday, April 29.

The color scheme of the hall is blue and gold. At one end is a stage, where Moe Baer's eleven-piece Virginia Beach Hotel Orchestra will play the latest dance music and will introduce several new numbers. The other three sides of the ballroom are lined with boxes—comfortable, commodious ones, with ample cushioned seats upholstered in blue plush. During the intermissions, instead of standing in the middle of the floor and trying to make conversation about the weather, the dancers may go to a box and be comfortably seated. There are enough seats for everyone, too.

Each box will be lettered or numbered, so that there will be no confusion in exchanging dances. Couples may simply meet at a pre-arranged place, for instance, Box "H," and there will be no wandering around among the crowd trying to find some other couple, who are likewise probably running around in circles trying to find you.

The Hall of Nations gets its name from the artistic decorations on the wall. Each painting shows a scene from a different country. According to the manager, every nation is represented except Germany.

This is due to the fact that the Hotel Washington was erected during the World War, when the mere mention of Germany was anathema to any good 100 per cent American. The manager sorrowfully admits that there should have been a blank space reserved for the future addition of some scene from the Fatherland.

It is doubtful, however, that the mere omission of "Picture of Berlin Street Scene" will prevent anyone from having a good time at the Prom.

Lewis is Spokesman At Wednesday Chapel

Tenth Anniversary of Entrance of United States into War Is Observed

President Lewis was the speaker at Wednesday chapel which was held in observance of the tenth anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the World War. He stated that there are 721 stars on the University Service flag in honor of the G. W. men who lost their lives during the late war.

Dr. Lewis spoke of the stupendous loss of life occasioned during the war. To give an idea of the number of men who fought for the United States, he declared that if these men could pass in procession, 20 abreast, and could march from sunrise to sunset, it would take them 3 months to pass the reviewing stand.

The speaker also expressed the opinion that we are now facing the problem of a war with China. In order to give the audience a glimpse of the Chinese country, the remainder of the period was given over to the showing of films.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The International Relations Club will hold its next meeting on April 26, in Corcoran Hall, Room 27, at 8 o'clock. He has lived in America for many years, and is soon to leave for Geneva.

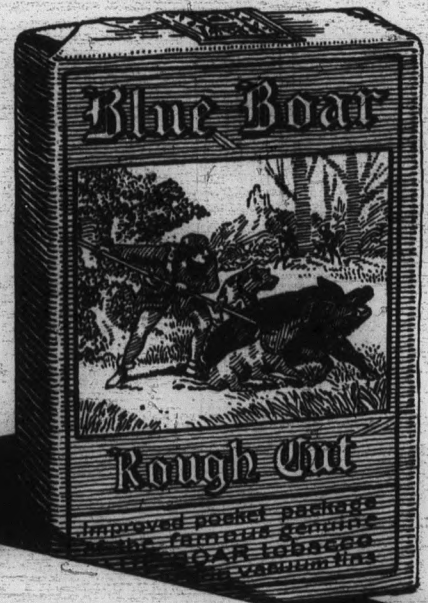

HE typical university man is not a faddist. Up to the minute, of course, but false and flippant styles don't delude him. His clothes reflect that. Our Langrock clothes are created in New Haven especially for college men. They give the utmost in genuine style as well as value.
